The information contained on the CereMind services is for general information purposes only. The information is provided by CereMind and while we endeavour to keep the information up to date and correct, we make no representations or warranties of any kind, express or implied, about the completeness, accuracy, reliability, suitability or availability with respect to the website or the information, products, services, or related graphics contained on the website for any purpose. Any reliance you place on such information is therefore strictly at your own risk.

CereMind assumes no medical, professional or legal responsibility for complications arising directly or indirectly as a result of the use of advice, and exercise programmes offered. Always consult your general practitioner before beginning any exercise program.

No medical diagnosis or treatment is provided by CereMind.

Where the CereMind services display health-related information (including data from connected wearable devices), this information is provided for general awareness only. It is not medical advice and should not be used to assess health, diagnose conditions, or make medical or health-related decisions. Any health concerns should be discussed with a qualified healthcare professional.

Every precaution must be made prior to engaging in the activity program to ensure the safety of any participants. Where appropriate, supervision is recommended. All participants under the age of 18 should be supervised. In no event will we be liable for any injury caused by performing the CereMind activities.

Every effort is made to keep the website and application up and running smoothly. However, CereMind takes no responsibility for, and will not be liable for, the website or application being temporarily unavailable due to general maintenance or technical issues beyond our control.
